

EXTRA

By Ives and Stayner to Warden Keating of Ludlow Street.

IVES BEFORE THE SENATORS.

Story of Ludlow Street Jail Corruption and Sheriff's Extortion.

It was rumored around the corridors of the County Court-house this morning that this would be a hard day for Senator Fassett and his investigating committee.

Their last came down from Albany with their own leader for big game, and the anticipation of sensational developments packed the hall of the Sheriff's Court with an expectant crowd long before the members of the committee had arrived.

The presence of Napoleon Ives and Partner Stayner was the first thing that attracted general attention, and it was said that they had the most important evidence to give of the peculiar methods of business in vogue in the Sheriff's office.

Among those present was a large number of lawyers who had been subpoenaed to give their experience of dealings with the Sheriff's office. Levi M. Bates was also one of the prospective witnesses.

It was 11 o'clock when Senator Fassett, who had been toasting his feet at the register in the court-room, called the Committee to order.

The first witness called was Alexander Blumenthal, of the law firm of Blumenthal & Hirsch, who said he had been for twenty-five years a practitioner, and had had a large experience with the Sheriff's office in the way of levying attachments and executions.

"What has been your experience with regard to extra compensation in the Sheriff's office?" asked Mr. Blumenthal.

"I suppose the same as that of most other lawyers. We always allow it, and it is not regarded as unusual to pay for it."

Mr. Blumenthal, at the request of Mr. Fassett, explained the process in detail of levying attachments and executions in the Sheriff's office, and described a case which he had when Mayor Grant was Sheriff, when he was the attorney for the City of New York.

"He said he had had conversations with Mr. Grant and Mr. Grant's son, and that they had agreed to pay him $5,000 for the levying of attachments and executions."

"In a word, they were all the time trying to get all they could out of you, and you were trying to get the best deal for them."

"That's about it."

"Does not the deputy then have absolute authority, and can he not do as he pleases with the execution of the law?"

remain out of prison after your arrest to arrange your business, was it not?"

"I presume so."

He said there were two classes of prisoners, those who paid their way and those who didn't. He belonged to the former class.

"How much did you and Stayner pay to Warden Keating for board while you were in Ludlow Street Jail?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

Some of the spectators whistled when they heard this, and Senator Fassett had to rap for order.

Ives described how he gradually reduced his expenses after going to jail. At first it cost him $250 a week, then $200, then $150, and finally he got his expenses down to $75 a week, where they stuck as long as he remained there.

He had all the wine he wanted, and used to send out for it himself. He could also get out for a walk, although he said Warden Keating did not make a regular business of supplying prisoners with spirituous liquors.

He left the jail only once during his stay there, except on order of a doctor, and that was last January, when he went out to attend the funeral of a relative.

"What did the Warden pay you?"

"I handled the Warden $30."

"Did he return it?"

"The nominal charge for board at the Ludlow Street Jail was $10 a week, but Ives said he was never able to get his expenses below $75 a week."

NEWS OF THE DAY ABROAD.

Bismarck Incensed at the Proffer of a Duchy.

BERLIN, March 22.—Bismarck is much incensed at being made a Duke without first being consulted.

This is the second time that he has had the name thrust upon him, but each time he has declined, saying: "I am too poor to be a Duke."

WHITE CAPS HERE

Barbaric Outrage in the Quiet Village of Westfield.

Mr. Seybold's Guest Forced to Fly at the Pistol's Point.

Miss Seybold's Heroic Defense With a Winchester Rifle.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

ELIZABETH, N. Y., March 22.—Richard Seybold, one of the best known and wealthiest residents of the State, and until recently employed in the New York City Department of Public Works, came here from his home in Westfield this morning, to arrange with his lawyer, Edmund F. French, for the arrest and prosecution of at least fifteen of the most prominent men in Westfield, who invaded his home, armed and masked, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and dragged his guest, Michael Brady, out of bed, made him dress and then drove him to the front door.

Mr. Seybold dwells in one of the finest residences in Westfield. He has a wife and four children, two boys and two girls. His wife is many years his junior, and a very beautiful woman. Seybold is interested in various railroad enterprises throughout the country. Brady, who is a well known athletic young man, is his foreman and right-hand man.

Needling him in New York on some important suits, Mr. Seybold summoned him from Delaware last December. He went to live at his employer's house in Westfield. There he was taken ill and was miserably nursed by his wife and Mrs. Seybold and her daughter.

When he got well he was sent frequently on the streets with Mrs. Seybold, and often he sat behind Mr. Seybold's handsome team of bays. His devotion to her was soon noticed and commented upon.

Both were deeply incensed at Mrs. Seybold's refusal to let Brady stay in her home, and they decided that such a state of things could not exist in their village.

Thursday night, Mr. Seybold was detained in Elizabeth until about 9 o'clock. His eldest son, George, was with him. It was nearly 10 o'clock when they reached the Westfield depot. There they were met by several acquaintances, who took them to a hotel, where the whole party engaged in a game of billiards.

At 1 o'clock, while Mr. Seybold was still absorbed in the game, the regulators, wearing black cloth masks and armed with clubs and guns, went to his home.

Mrs. Seybold was sitting in the library awaiting her husband's return, when a loud knock sounded at the door. She opened the door, and found a man in a dark coat and hat, who told her to get ready to go.

She opened the door, about fifteen or twenty of the masked men pushed her into the house, and paying no attention to her shrieks and questions, after a hurried look through the rooms on the first floor.

Before they reached the top of the stairs, they were met by a man in a dark coat and hat, who told her to get ready to go.

"Wait, clear and calm, came from above, and looking up the White Caps found themselves staring into the muzzle of a Winchester rifle held by a beautiful young woman, on the stairs."

It was Mrs. Seybold's nineteen-year-old daughter, who had been waiting for her father's return.

JACK VON IT. EIGHT CLUBS.

His 47-Round Fight with Carroll Was a Rattler.

A RIGHT-HANDED KNOCK-OUT.

Cheers for Both Men and $12,500 for the Winner.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The great battle of the lightweights is over and Jack Carroll, the sturdy little Williamsburgh fighter, is again a victor.

In the forty-seventh round, early this morning, Jack administered with his pious right hand the blow which put Carroll in the hospital.

CHAMPION JACK CARROLL.

Jack Carroll, of Northampton, out of the fight for good and all, and 2,000 spectators, packing the club-room, joined in cheers for both the victor and the vanquished.

Several rounds before the finish, McAdiffe seemed a little tired, and seemed to be weak in the face, but his engine bracing up and strong right and left foot in the concluding round made it look as if he had been holding back to let his supporters place their money better.

Up to the day of the fight the betting had not been so heavy as anticipated, the pool-rooms being so flooded with McAdiffe backers stood off.

Owing to rumors that the fight was to be a draw, the betting was not so heavy as anticipated, the pool-rooms being so flooded with McAdiffe backers stood off.

Both men were in fine condition, and the fight was interesting from start to finish.

The going sounded for the first round at 9:14.

Jack first for the stomach. Light exchanges and a clinch followed. Carroll pushed and pushed, but he was not able to get in.

Round 2.—Carroll leads and misses and follows up with his right on Mac's neck. Mac leads and misses and follows up with his right on Mac's neck.

Round 3.—Carroll leads and misses and follows up with his right on Mac's neck. Mac leads and misses and follows up with his right on Mac's neck.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE NO LONGER A BASEBALL MONSTROSITY.

NEW YORK GETS THE HOUSERS

The Magnates Have a New Schedule Which Means Fight.

At 3:30 o'clock this morning the magnates of the National League met at their headquarters at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and adjourned sine die.

Their ten club meetings had then been raised, Indianapolis and Washington had been laid quietly on the shelf and a new eight-club schedule adopted, as follows:
